

- Frontlines between government of Syria (GOS) forces and Hayyat Tahrir Ash-Sham (HTS)-dominated groups remained static this week. Five underwater oil pipelines were attacked near Baniyas. Civilians were arrested in the Turkish-dominated Afrin district.
- Low-level attacks against government-aligned personnel in the central and southern areas of the country continued this week. Elsewhere, two civil disturbances were reported in As Sweida City

Despite the regular security operations along the Euphrates River Valley in 2019 (Figure 5), low level attacks against SDF and aligned personnel in the same area have continued. This week saw seven attacks against SDF forces in the Al Izba Oilfield, Shiheil (2 events), Thiban, Mhemideh, Khasham, and in Sabkhah.

Four landmine detonations were also recorded on the Road 16 area of Raqqa City, Basira and Shafa (2 events) resulting in at least six civilian casualties.
